HOW TO USE THIS RESOURCE

Hi! Thank you for your purchase of this resource, I really appreciate your support. I use this bulletin board when I purchase updated copies of those books that students love to read. Usually once every other year I do this because they get the most love and can get pretty ratty quickly. I've also used this when I notice a lot of kids coming in and saying the dreaded, "I don't like to read" or "You don't have any good books." I hope you enjoy this fun display! Please note, if you find it too cringy to use the term "cap" there is an alternative without slang.

Here is a list of book series I have used for this display, but it is not inclusive, and your students may like different ones. So, just be sure to put books that fit your population the best. And be sure to only add books that fit your collection development guidelines for your district.

- Roles by: Lois Sacchar
- The One and Only Ivan by: Katherine Applegate
- Miles Morales Spiderman by: Jason Reynolds
- Ghost Track series by: Jason Reynolds
- Berrybrook Middle School Series by: Svetlana Chmakova
- Anything by April Henry
- Anything by Karen McManus
- The Hate U Give by: Angie Thomas
- Miss Peregrine's Home for Peculiar Children series by: Ransom Riggs

HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH
Celebrate Diversity

A bulletin board with an orange scalloped border. At the top, it says "Bulletin Board" in large, colorful, outlined letters, followed by "HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH" in similar style. Below this, it says "HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH" again, followed by "Celebrate Diversity" in a cursive font with flower icons. The board is filled with small portraits of Hispanic figures, each with a name and title below it. A blue speech bubble at the bottom right says "Middle And High School". At the bottom left, it says "The Fox Reads".
